

“She wore a sock on her wing – and a hat on her foot - and a glove on her head to stay warm.”

Faust laughed.

“That could only be Desi

the darling devoted

Pink Headed Duck.

The last one from Bora

since passing the buck.

She quacked from the skyline

according to grapevines

like Wittgenstein and Einstein

measuring time

in oodles of noodles,

boodles of strudels,

dreaming doddles are doodles

and doodles are doddles and doddles = mc^2 .

Step. Safe.

“He will not howl but can whistle and scream and cluck like a chicken – or, so it may seem.”
